LONDON EARL'S COURT

GETTING HERE

Stay well connected.

Whether you are here for business or leisure, getting around couldn't be easier. Mercure Earl's Court is conveniently located near the M4 for access to Heathrow Airport and the motorway network. West Brompton Station provides Underground/Overground public transit to the rest of London. The hotel is only a short ride from London's greatest landmarks. As a result, it is the ideal location for UK and overseas visitors.

London Underground

Sitting at the edge of zone 1, West Brompton (3 mins walk) and Earl's Court (7 mins walk) stations are both within easy walking distance.

Driving

Mercure London Earl's Court is a quarter of a mile (400m) from the A4, providing easy access to the M4, M5 and M40.

Parking

There is a car park adjacent to London Suite with 140 parking bays. Mercure London Earl's Court does not manage the parking so spaces cannot be reserved and may become full during busy events. Guests and delegates can benefit from preferential parking rates as follows:

Up to 2 hours £7	Up to 9 hours £16 (£21 for non-residents)
Up to 4 hours £11	Up to 12 hours £20 (£26 for non-residents)
Up to 6 hours £14	Up to 24 hours (overnight) £26

Walking around the local area

Earls Court, with its long association with landmark exhibitions and events, has some great neighbours. Nearby you'll explore fashionable Notting Hill, home to the famous Caribbean carnival and the vintage or antique markets of Portobello Road, the interiors and boutiques of Fulham and Chelsea, Harrods of Knightsbridge and the Palace, museums and galleries of Kensington. Of course, The City and West End shops, theatres and architecturally iconic Westminster skyline are also within easy reach. A short ride on the handy District Line will take you to Wimbledon for the tennis, Putney, Chiswick or Richmond for the river, Ealing for the Blues Festival or Kew for the World Heritage Site gardens.
