THE FRENCH
DINING ROOM

THE FRENCH DINING ROOM

The French Dining Room is one of the most exquisite and dazzling rooms in the House, filled with light and beautiful views of the river and Berkshire countryside. On a visit to Paris in 1897 William Waldorf Astor was shown the intricate gilded panelling in Madame de Pompadour's 18th century dining room at the Château d'Asnières. Realising the proportions exactly matched those of the dining room at Cliveden he bought the panelling, table and chairs, then had the entire room reconstructed in his home. Seating up to sixty guests, this Rococo masterpiece provides an incomparable setting for a romantic wedding breakfast, impressive lunch or sumptuous dinner.

SPRING COTTAGE

UNRIVALLED PEACE AND SECLUSION

Spring Cottage takes its name from the spring that emerges in the nearby chalk cliffs and was originally built as a summerhouse by the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland. It became the much trusted meeting place of Queen Victoria and the Duchess and it was here that the two esteemed ladies would take afternoon tea whilst watching the world float by.

Secluded in its own grounds on the banks of the Thames, Spring Cottage allows for a corporate retreat like no other. Complete with a fridge full of provisions, the Cottage provides a peaceful sanctuary and secluded hideaway perfect for meetings and events. The gothic Tea Room is the main entertaining room and its magnificent architecture and fan-vaulted ceiling provides a truly special setting, whilst the country kitchen is perfect for dining for up to 6 guests. A private chef and your own personal butler can be arranged upon request (additional charge applies). Within the Cottage's private grounds is a jetty, perfect for boarding one of Cliveden's beautiful vintage launches for a champagne cruise with a luxury hamper.
