Being Human is a fascinating gallery and one of our most interesting venues allowing interaction with objects in the space.

In this gallery we explore what it means to be human in the 21st century, with themes such as trust, identity and health in a changing world being touched upon. This immersive space reflects our hopes and fears about new forms of medical knowledge and our changing relationships with ourselves, each other and the world.

Network in this space around artworks and objects which are divided into four sections: Genetics, Minds & Bodies, Infection and Environmental Breakdown.

Enjoy canapés around a refugee astronaut whilst listening to music from the epidemic jukebox.

“I organise an annual course from Lancashire which I have run at the Wellcome for 5 years. Having been let down by others in the field I trust the staff at Wellcome and I am able to brief them of our requirements including room, layout and catering requirements beforehand. IT support is available, and the venue is safe and secure. Our delegate feedback has been excellent.”

Food & Drink

All of our menus provide seasonal, fresh and delicious food for thought of a very high quality.

Our chefs understand how important food and drink is to any event - that's why our menus are designed and created with seasonal ingredients in mind. If you have a specific request, our team will always be happy to make a bespoke option for you. Should you want a purely vegetarian menu or cakes with your brand colour then just let us know.

We plan and deliver all our menus in accordance with our sustainability mission to minimise food waste; we monitor all wasted food and can work with repeat clients to reduce left over food. Through our catering partners we work with Wasteknot to utilise surplus fruit and vegetables from farms all over the country and our coffee is ground on site through our Bermondsey supplier and is delivered in reusable containers via an electric van called Ernie.

We work with Tasnow, an allergen system that allows any delegate attending an event to view what allergens are in each menu. You can be assured that each of our menus has a comprehensive list of allergens, ensuring client safety and the confidence of our guests. Of course, should you have any further requests or dietary requirements, we are happy to assist.
