

Events at the Union Club

A beautiful listed town house in the heart of Soho.

A private members' club of unique character and charm; intimate, eclectic and authentic. One of Soho's best kept secrets.

We have been producing boutique events for 30 years and have a range of options to meet your requirements.

Birthdays, receptions, product launches, press days, showcases, fashion shows, parties, life drawing classes, yoga and wakes can all be hosted within our variety of different space options.

Whatever you need, you can trust the Union to deliver an exceptional experience at the right price, to delight you and your guests.

Unique, chic and discreet

The Union Club offers a fabulously relaxed, bohemian backdrop for your event.

A 300 year-old Georgian town house decorated with French street lights, modern and antique furniture and an eclectic art collection, complemented by acclaimed, unpretentious modern British cuisine, and a delightful team of experienced staff.

A venue like no other. Do come and say hello.

Club History

Prior to its first development in the 18th century, the area was used as a hunting ground by local gentry who would cry 'Soho! Soho!' as they chased through the woods. Subsequently, the whole area gained the name Soho Fields, which was then shortened to what it's called now - 'Soho'. This Georgian townhouse was built in 1736 by William Frith, a local carpenter, who erected six houses, all to the same pattern. In those days it was mostly fields and woodland all the way to Highgate. Over the years it has of course been used for everything and anything, and no doubt saw plenty of action as a brothel, gambling and drinking den. Soho has always been colourful. Today, 50 Greek Street is the last remaining of the original six houses and is a listed historical building of considerable merit.

Our Venue

Dining Room

A room of great charm where we can host sit-down lunches for up to 60 guests and stand-up parties for up to 80 guests.

A beautiful room with a long history, the Dining Room is light and airy with a wonderful collection of 20th century lights and chandeliers. Located on the first floor of the club, the Dining Room is where heritage meets the contemporary.

This room has seen it all; weddings, wakes, parties, book launches, breakfasts, conferences, press days, yoga and life drawing. Not sure if we can do it? Please ask!

Roof Terrace

Our sunny roof terrace is a hidden gem.

It offers a private garden style space away from the hustle of the street where we can cater for up to 40 for lunch or dinner.

The terrace is a sun trap and works well from the spring to autumn - but we also use it on crisp winter nights, when we have blankets and hot water bottles to keep the chill at bay.

Channing Williams Room

This room accommodates 20 for a private lunch or dinner, or 30 for a stand-up reception - perfect for smaller parties.

Available on half-day and 2-hour rates for meetings, shoots, interviews, castings and private Zoom meets. Please ask.

Dining at the Union

Our Head Chef, Frans de Wet is a new addition to the team, a South African who has taken the reins from previous head chef Carolyn Dawson, who ran our kitchens at the Union for 29 years.

Frans presents a fresh take on the classic Union menu that is at once traditional and modern, comforting and contemporary, but above all, delicious and unpretentious. His team offers unmatched quality. They bake their own bread daily and make their own fresh pasta.

Party at the Union!

The Union also has everything you need to party for up to 120 people.

Disco equipment is provided inclusive in our hire charges and family or friends can easily plug in laptops or phones to access your own playlists.

Or if you prefer to use a professional DJ, we can provide equipment for them to work from.

Our dance floor is intimate and connects directly to the front ground floor where guests can rest and chat. It can also be hired with the roof terrace (where guests can cool off!).

The Back Bar, perfect for speeches, games, dances and live music. Not sure if it's possible? Let us know what you're after and we'll do our best to accommodate.

We have our own PA system that is simple to use and available all day. The Back Bar is fully equipped with disco lights to end your party with a bang!
