Food & Drink

We'll work closely with you to create menus for your event.

Head chef and owner, James Rix, serves imaginative food with rustic Italian and French influences. James previously worked alongside chefs Gary Rhodes and Alastair Little, and was head chef at Tom Conran's The Cow in Notting Hill.

The simple but sophisticated menu features creative seasonal food with seasonal ingredients. Ingredients are carefully sourced including rare-breed meat, native Cornish lobsters and local game. Meat and fish is cooked or finished in a charcoal Josper oven that works like an indoor barbecue to give the meat a fantastic flavour while keeping it moist and tender and enhance the flavour.

We have a varied and interesting wine list with classics and interesting wines from smaller producers.

Our bar is stocked with quality brands of soft drinks and spirits, along with smaller local brands such as campfire gin and guest beer from the Tring brewery.

"James Rix's daily changing menus draw on seasonal ingredients, his dishes a blend of British, French and rustic Italian with the emphasis on big flavours."

Good Food Guide 2020

"The chef's ethos is to let good quality ingredients speak for themselves. Alongside homemade pasta dishes you'll find meats cooked on the Josper grill and plenty of local game. Flavours are pronounced, combinations are classical and portions are hearty."
