OUR HISTORY

Former Northern Lighthouse Board ship, Fingal, was commissioned in 1963 and was the last ship to be built by the Blytheswood Shipbuilding Company in Glasgow. For over 36 years, Fingal ferried lighthouse keepers, essential supplies and maintenance staff to the lighthouses throughout the West Coast and north of Scotland.

Following a £5million development by the award-winning team at The Royal Yacht Britannia, Fingal opened in January 2019 as Scotland's first luxury floating hotel in the historic Port of Leith.

BEAUTIFULLY CRAFTED SPACES FOR EVENTS

From Fingal's former control centre, the Bridge, which seats up to 12, to our larger versatile Ballroom, nestled in the former hold of the ship, Fingal offers inspiring, nautical spaces perfect for small meetings, larger conferences or networking receptions.

THE BALLROOM

Fingal's breathtaking Ballroom is available for meetings, product launches and corporate conferences. With your own private bar and two grand sweeping staircases, this double height space creates a stunning backdrop for any event.

Flooded with natural light, the Ballroom can seat up to 80 delegates for conferences or seminars, and up to 100 for reception-style networking events. Bespoke seating arrangements can be organised, plus a choice of AV options, complimentary wifi and a 72" plasma screen.

Seating arrangements: Theatre - 80, Cabaret - 50, Boardroom - 30.

THE BRIDGE

Home to the ship's wheel, The Bridge is situated on the top deck, boasting ever-changing waterfront views and access to outside decks housing Fingal's original telegraphs. Seating up to 12, The Bridge is a luxurious space perfect for private dining and boardroom meetings.

We cater for light lunches, coffee breaks and afternoon teas, with everything being made fresh in our on board galleys, served by experienced, discreet staff.

Our outstanding service and a crew whose sole aim is to make sure every detail is taken care of, ensures that your day runs with precision, and all your business needs are met.

Delegates will benefit from complimentary Fingal branded notebooks, pen and pencils, plus free wifi. A 72" screen is available at an additional cost.
