THE MARTINI

“the only american invention as perfect as the sonnet”

b.l.mencken

beloved by bartenders for the amount of configuration and personalisation the manufacture entails, loved equally by customers for the challenge of creating their own perfect recipe, a quest as difficult as catching moonbeams in a jar but far more enjoyable in the process.

at qv we endeavour to craft every martini to the most exacting specifications – yours. we stock a large range of gin and vodka to provide the palette for your creation, a number of common and boutique modifiers for the finer details and jeremy has selected olives, onions and other fine savoury delights to finish the picture the martini is like a woman's breast, one is not enough, two is just right, three is one too many, but four, four is perfect

RULES OF DRINKING. 1.if you owe someone money, always pay them back in a bar preferably during happy hour. 2.always toast before doing a shot. 3.whoever buys the shot gets the first chance to offer a toast. 4. change your toast at least once a month. 5.buying someone a drink is five times better than a handshake. 6.buying a strange woman a drink is still cool. buying all her drinks is dumb. 7.never borrow more than one cigarette from the same person in one night. 8.do not make eye contact with the bartender if you do not want a drink. 9.never, ever tell a bartender he made your drink too strong. 10.if you offer to buy a woman a drink and she refuses, she does not like you. 11.if you offer to buy a woman a drink and she accepts, she still might not like you. 12.if she buys you a drink, she likes you. 13.if someone offers to buy you a drink, do not upgrade your liquor preference. 14.always have a corkscrew in your house. 15.if you don't have a corkscrew, push the cork down into the bottle with a pen. 16.after your sixth drink, do not look at yourself in the mirror. it will shake your confidence. 17.if there is a dj, you can request a song only once per night. if he doesn't play it within half an hour, do not approach him again. if he does play it, do not approach him again. 18.learn how to make a rose out of a bar napkin. you'll be surprised how well it works. 19.if you can't afford to tip, you can't afford to drink in a bar. go to the liquor store. 20.if you owe someone twenty dollars or less, you may pay them back in beer. 21.never complain about the quality or brand of a free drink. 22.the only thing that tastes better than free liquor is stolen liquor. 23.learn to appreciate hangovers. if it was all good times every jackass would be doing it. 24.try one new drink each week. 25.if you are the bar's sole customer, you are obliged to make small talk with the bartender until he stops acknowledging you. then you're off the hook. the same goes for him. 26.anyone on stage or behind a bar is fifty percent better looking. 27.a bar is a college, not a nursery. if you spill a beer, clean it up. if you break a glass, wait for a staff member to clean it up, then blame it on someone else. 28.it's okay to drink alone. 29.if you do a shot, finish it. if you don't plan to finish it, don't accept it. 30.if you are broke and a friend is "sporting you", you must laugh at all his jokes and play wingman when he makes his move. 31.if you are broke and a friend is "making sport of you", you may steal any drink he leaves unattended. 32.if you are trading rounds with a friend and he asks if you're ready for another, always say yes. once you fall out of sync you will end up buying more drinks than him. 33.if you're going to hit on a member of the bar staff, make sure you tip well before and after, regardless of their response. 34.if there is ever any confusion, the fuller beer is yours. 35.the patrons at your local bar are your extended family, your fathers and mothers, your brothers and sisters. except you get to sleep with these sisters. and if you're really drunk, the mothers. 36.it's acceptable, traditional in fact, to disappear during a night of hard drinking. you will appear mysterious and your friends will understand. if they even notice. 37. never argue your tab at the end of the night. remember, you're hammered and they're sober. it's akin to a precocious five-year-old arguing the super-string theory with a physicist. 99.9% of the time you're wrong and either way you're going to come off as a jackass. 38.if you hesitate more than three seconds after the bartender looks at you, you do not deserve a drink. 39.the greatest thing a drunkard can do is buy a round of drinks for a packed bar. 40.if you are 86'd, do not return for at least three months. to come back sooner makes it appear no other bar wants you. 41.anyone with three or more drinks in his hands has the right of way. 42.there's nothing wrong with drinking before noon. especially if you're supposed to be at work. abridged the harsh, useful things of the world, from pulling teeth to digging potatoes, are best done by men who are as starkly sober as so many convicts in the death-house, but the lovely and useless things, the charming and exhilarating things, are best done by men with, as the phrase is, a few sheets in the wind.
