SHERRY
Sherry is a fortified wine produced in Andalusia in the so-called sherry triangle: Jerez de la Frontera, Sanlucar de Barrameda and El Puerto de Santamaria. The majority of sherry is dry and within this category, there are different styles: those that are aged under a layer of flor yeast (Manzanilla & Fino), those that are aged in absence of flor (Oloroso) and those that start ageing under the flor and finish without the protection of the yeast (Amontillado & Palo Cortado).
