Sune is a neighbourhood restaurant on the edge of Broadway Market, where seasonal cooking, thoughtful wine and generous hospitality come together.

Inspired by the flavours and rhythm of Southern Europe, we cook with the seasons, celebrating exceptional produce through simple, ingredient-led dishes paired with a wine list chosen with curiosity and care. From leisurely lunches and long dinners to Sunday brunch by the canal, Sune is a place to slow down, share generously and return to often. Whether you're joining us for a quick glass or settling in for the evening, we hope Sune feels like your local, even if you've travelled across London to get here.

Founded by husband-and-wife team Charlie Sims and acclaimed sommelier, author and wine consultant Honey Spencer, Sune draws on years spent working in some of the world's leading restaurants to create a place centred on exceptional food, remarkable wine and heartfelt hospitality.

Named after Honey's mentor, the influential Copenhagen sommelier Sune Rosforth, and the Old Nordic word for "son", the restaurant reflects a belief in sharing knowledge, welcoming people generously and creating something worth passing on.

Whether it's a leisurely lunch, celebratory dinner or gathering with friends, Sune is a place to come together over exceptional food, thoughtful wine and generous hospitality.

Overlooking Regent's Canal at the foot of Broadway Market, our intimate neighbourhood restaurant offers a warm, relaxed setting in one of East London's most loved destinations. Known for its independent shops, neighbourhood wine bars, cafés and creative community, Broadway Market is a place where people come to linger, explore and celebrate, just moments from London Fields.

Drinks

Wine has always been at the heart of Sune. Curated by co-founder Honey Spencer (an award-winning sommelier, wine consultant and author) our list reflects years spent working with some of the world's most respected restaurants and producers. Built around growers we admire and bottles we love to drink, it balances established classics with exciting new discoveries.

Alongside the wine, you'll find a small selection of seasonal cocktails, local beers and thoughtful non-alcoholic drinks, all chosen to complement the food and the seasons.
